Nebraska Rock-n-Roll Hall-of-Famer doesn't mind Spilling a little Mercury

Lincoln – 2009 Nebraska Rock-n-Roll Hall-of-Fame nominee Gregg Lee and his band Paisty Jenny will celebrate the release of their third CD titled “Spilling Mercury” at Red 9, in Lincoln, Nebraska on Saturday, March 7th.

The diverse 16-song CD takes the listener on real journey. Singer-songwriter Lee said, “We had enough material to release two very different CDs but we decided to flat-out give our fans their money’s worth. We’re very proud of it and can’t wait to get it in their hands.” Lee reflected, “It’s the story of the past 5 years. Sometimes you have to fall back to move forward; sometimes you have to spill a little mercury to clean up your act.”

While the disc includes great hooks and potential hits scattered throughout, it should be enjoyed from start to finish. It starts out with Paisty-flavored modern rock, mellows for moment, ratchets-up to mainstream fun and takes the time to examine the important things too.

One song called “Bigger Man” was written the day following the horrific shootings that took place at the Omaha Von Maur store on December 5, 2007. Lee said, “My family was directly affected and it changed lives forever.” Bigger Man reflects on that day, as well as similar tragedies at Columbine and Virginia Tech, and calls out for change. The band delayed the release of the CD because fans were requesting that the song be included. Two more weeks of recording time were scheduled and the song is now a bonus track on the disc.

Over the past seven years the band has built a name throughout the Midwest as a high-energy entertainment package. As quoted by the international Emergenza Festival, “Paisty Jenny delivers arena rock with a modern rock edge.” According to Derric Miller at Hardrock Haven, “Paisty Jenny is a band we firmly believe needs to be heard. Gaining a reputation and being flirted with by various record labels, Paisty Jenny is a stage machine. Long-time guitar player Jonny Ray plays the cool guitar hero, smoothly pulling off leads and solos nonchalantly. Gregg Lee is the consummate showman, almost like he walked off the Sunset Strip instead of Huskerland.”

Rounding out the rhythm section is Gabe Mathews on bass and Tye Lovette on drums. Both members joined the band during the past two years and brought new life and a new edge to the Paisty party.

Following the CD release show, Paisty Jenny is planning a two-week trip to Los Angeles to showcase their talents. At a ceremony later this year Gregg Lee will be inducted as one of the youngest ever into the Nebraska Rock-n-Roll Hall-of-Fame which includes such greats as Randy Meisner (The Eagles), Max Carl (38 Special), and Buddy Miles (Band of Gypsies with Jimi Hendrix)

The cover charge is only $5 and the opening acts include Citizen Kayne starting at 9 PM and The Victims at 10. Paisty Jenny takes the stage at 11 PM.
